GIANTS AGAIN DEFEAT YANKS; SCORE IS 3 TO 0

CITY TO PURCHASE NORTHWEST LAND FOR PARK USE

Council Decides to Secure 13 Acres at Patterson Site for $10,000

The purchase of thirteen acres adjoining the Patterson Avenue Park for $10,000, with the provision that the property shall be used only for park purposes, last night was approved by the city council.

City Attorney Hartley Shaw was instructed to prepare the necessary papers by which the city will acquire this property from Carl S. Hahn and Eloise Hahn, its present owners, who still own considerable acreage in its vicinity.

The restriction that the property should be used for park purposes only was the source of considerable argument during the meeting.

The Foothill Improvement association was represented in the debate by its newly elected president, Alex Mitchell of 2001 Kenneth road, John R. Grey of 667 West Doran street and O. M. Newby of 803 North Pacific avenue. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Botsford of 1031 Glenwood road were also in the audience.

Ready to Purchase

The discussion was opened by Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson who announced that the council was ready to make the purchase provided the property could be acquired without "strings."

"The owner of the property will refuse to turn it over without a 'string'," remarked Mr. Mitchell. "It is a cinch that you can never use it for a sewer farm or anything like that."

"It's elevation is too high," retorted Councilman Sam Davis. "Couldn't use it for that anyway."

Attention was called by Mr. Newby that the purchase of the park has been approved by every civic organization in Glendale. He inquired why the council should insist the provision "for park purposes only" should be eliminated when it was evident

W. B. KELLY HOME FROM CONVENTION

Delegate From Exchange Club Tells of Big Meeting at Louisville, Ky.

"The big idea of the Exchange club is to build up and uplift the business of the cities and communities and to back up civic improvements, national, state and city."

This definition was given this morning by Capt. W. B. Kelly of 106 West Colorado street, who has just returned from the convention at Louisville, Ky., of the National Exchange club.

"The principal feature about the convention that impressed me the most was the large number of delegates that were there from 28 states and the high type of business and professional men from all over," remarked Mr. Kelly this morning.

The California delegation was looked up to during the entire convention, according to Mr. Kelly, who remarked that the eastern exchange clubs were well pleased with the affiliation with them of many of the former California Progressive clubs.

Well Represented

California was represented by fourteen among the thousand delegates. Besides Glendale, California communities represented were: San Francisco, Los Angeles, Modesto, Long Beach and Bakersfield.

The new president of the National Exchange club is Ray C. Lang of Birmingham, Ala.. California was given a third vice-president in the person of Dr. G. F. Sibichi of Bakersfield. Harry Stephenson of Long Beach was elected a member of the board of directors.

The next convention will be held in Springfield, Mass., but California was promised the convention for 1924.

The reception afforded the delegates by the city of Louisville was most remarkable for its excellence, according to Mr. Kelly. He was the first to arrive at convention headquarters and was able to get his literature boosting Glendale distributed before any of the other California delegates arrived.

NEW FEARS OF WAR

LONDON, Oct. 6. — Fears of war in Asia Minor again blazed forth today in the wake of collapse of the Turco-Allied armistice conference at Mudania. It was admitted by Downing street officials that the British fear an offensive by the Turks against the British at Chanak, on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles.

Rotary-Kiwanis Clubs to Battle for Championship

While New York is seeing its two teams play for the championship of their city, Glendale is going to have its own fun Saturday afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock, when the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs cross bats in a fun fiesta of indoor baseball outdoors. There will be other events and the Glendale Merchants are scheduled for a real game with able opponents.

The reason for this extra show is to finance the Verdugo Hills Scout Council to a limited extent. Any member of the Rotary or Kiwanis club will provide you with tickets, whether you attend or not.

And at that they are going to give you a run for your money. The games will be played at the Park avenue and San Fernando road diamond of the Merchants' club.

Many Entertaining Features on Program With Regular Association Work

An informal social hour preceded the regular meeting, which opened with the singing of America and the flag salute. Mrs. Annie L. Curtiss, principal of the school, then greeted the company, and Mrs. Eustace B. Moore, president of the Glendale Federation of P. T. A., brought greetings from that organization.

During the afternoon the women enjoyed a one act play, "Please Pass the Cream," presented by Henry Biederman and Dr. Pearl Anderson, advanced students from the Emerson School of Self-Expression.

City Is Good Place for Canaries Also

Glendale's victory over Pasadena as a place to raise canaries is supreme!

Realtor W. B. Kelly of 106 W. Colorado street doesn't claim to be an authority on canaries but he is an authority on Glendale.

Mr. Kelly has just returned from Louisville, Kentucky, where he was a delegate to the convention of the National Exchange Club.

Combining business with pleasure on the return trip, he met Mr. and Mrs. Julian Levy, who were bringing their canaries to California and expected to locate in Pasadena. They were invited to come to Glendale instead.

Yesterday Realtor Kelly sold them a home.

INVASION BY BURGLAR

Dr. R. W. Sherred's office at 111 East Broadway was entered Wednesday night by a burglar who made use of the transom.

HARRY MILLER HAD 5 JOBS AT ONCE IN OLDEN DAYS

Pioneer Resident Tells of Time He Worked Hard for $75 Per Month

Only those Glendalians who can recall the days when Harry M. Miller, realtor, 114 East Broadway, served the city in the composite capacity of city marshal, police force, chief of the fire department, dog catcher and street sweeper, all for $75 a month, are really entitled to be classified as "old-timers." And there aren't very many of them, for in those days there were only about 1700 people in Glendale.

But they aren't alone in the enjoyment of Mr. Miller's experiences, for the 30,000 or more people who have since become Glendalians share with them in the pleasure of their reminiscences and in the pride the city takes in the well organized and modern departments of civic service.

It was seventeen years ago that Harry M. Miller first visited Glendale, and at that time the Pacific Electric tracks were just being laid along Brand boulevard.

Lured By Valley

Mr. Miller had just come from participating in the Spanish-American war with the United States army, and after working for a time for the government in Washington and for the Southern Pacific railroad in San Francisco, he secured a pass to Los Angeles.

"I was impressed with the beauties of the valley," says Mr. Miller, "and I decided to locate in Glendale.

"You who have come to Glendale since would never have known the city then. Why, the old wooden high school was located on this block where my office stands, 114 East Broadway. There were wooden curbs and no paved streets. During those days I witnessed the sale of this block at auction for $14,000. It was bought by a Los Angeles saloonkeeper, and he later subdivided the property and sold it with a profit of $36,000.

"One of the first persons I became acquainted with was a city

PLAN PROGRAM OF TREE PLANTINGS

D. of A. R. Chapter Learns of Campaign; Continues Americanization

The members of the General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held their first meeting of the season yesterday afternoon at the home of the regent, Mrs. John Hyde Braly, 505 North Brand boulevard. Miss Ida Myers of Glendale, who is state chairman for conservation and thrift, gave a bulletin which she is issuing, giving instructions to the various chapters throughout the state for the year. One of the things being emphasized is that of forestry and the planting of trees. The plan is to have each chapter in the state plant a tree for each member. In compliance with a request from the American Forestry association at Washington the Daughters will have a voting contest to choose a national tree.

The Americanization work of the local chapter is being done at the Albion street school in Los Angeles by giving donations of clothing and magazines and also a Christmas treat for the day nursery which is conducted there. Last year the chapter raised $844.40, or a mile of pennies. The members are planning to secure an additional $155.60 in order to make this amount an even thousand. The mile of pennies goes to the Maternity Cottage in Los Angeles.

Reports Council Meeting

Mrs. C. W. Houston gave a report of the council meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which was called by the state regent and held recently in Los Angeles. John Hyde Braly gave a short talk on the California bear.

The next regular meeting of the local chapter will be held the first Thursday in November. The officers are: Mrs. John Hyde Braly, regent; Mrs. C. W. Houston, first vice-regent; Miss Ida Myers, second vice-regent; Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, secretary; Mrs. H. A. Strong, treasurer; Mrs. S. H. Butterfield of Burbank, historian; Mrs. Gertrude Folansbee, chaplain.

NEW MARK FOR WORLD SUSTAINED FLIGHT RECORD

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 6.—The world's sustained flight record was broken here today by Lieutenants Oakley Kelly and John Macready when they had kept the new army monoplane T-2 in the air longer than the 26 hours and 11 minutes mark made at Berlin in 1920. At 8:30 o'clock they were still circling over the city and Rockwell field officials expressed the firm belief that they would remain aloft until their fuel supply is exhausted, some time this afternoon.

AMERICAN SHIPS OUTLAWED AS 'RUM SELLERS'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—All American ships, privately owned, as well as those operated by the government, will be outlawed as rum sellers by an opinion of Attorney General Daugherty, expected to be made public within a few days. SCOUT BOYS TALK TO ROTARY CLUB OF CONFERENCE

Evening News Lads Relate Experiences; Number of Visitors Present

"Be the best in your profession or business endeavor" was the message brought to the Glendale Rotary club yesterday noon at its meeting in the Chamber of Commerce banquet hall over Glen Inn.

Eagle Scout Dallas Kalbaugh, an Evening News carrier, who attended the Boy Scout conference at Sacramento this summer, was the speaker. He told what he had learned at the capital meeting.

Bob Eastman, son of A. R. Eastman, a member of the club, also recounted what the conference considered and he impressed his hearers in boyish language what the home, the church and the school mean. He also pointed out a Scout's duty toward his home town, whom he should select for friends and the necessity of having a vocation and avocation.

Must Like Work

"To make a success of your work you must have some talent and have a liking for it," he advised the Rotarians.

Kenneth Hellyer described the interesting features of the meeting, such as the trip, the attendance at church, a visit to Fort Sutter and he discounted Scout Executive Benner's report that a mountain lion was seen on the ridge route.

Clifford Walcott, the fourth scout to speak, also is an Evening News carrier, and he gave his impressions of the various demonstrations. The Glendale quartet put on eight different bandages and made a stretcher and got away with their "victim" in 10 minutes. Other Scouts built bridges, put up tents, set up wireless equipment and the deaf boys from Berkeley relayed messages in two codes with a perfect score in their 10-minute demonstration, he recounted.

Keep Out of Prison

President Roy L. Kent made the statement that Warden Martin Johnson of San Quentin penitentiary has said that no man with Scout training has been sentenced to his institution. He urged that all Rotarians aid with the ball game ticket sale for tomorrow when the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs will give the proceeds to the Verdugo Hills Scout council.

It was announced that Rotarian C. H. Kirkman has become a Scout master. Rotarians were invited to attend the Riverside fair, also take a trip to Honolulu in January.

The appalling conditions in the county jail were briefly called to the attention of the club by Attorney Owen C. Emery, local justice of the peace, and others.

Visitors Present

Visitors at yesterday's meeting from out-of-town included Paul Pape and Mark Hauser of Los Angeles; Harold B. Landreth, Ed Nay and Dr. Roy B. Sherry of Pasadena; John Stannnard of Alameda and W. F. Whittaker of Bakersfield.

C. L. Theuerkauf, manager of Universal Film exchange, Los Angeles, was introduced by William A. Howe of the Glendale Theatre, while Attorney Owen C. Emery introduced his father, E. U. Emery, manager of the Newmark Coffee company. C. H. Kirkman introduced Dr. Waldo Richardson, a newcomer to this city.

ABANDONS CUTOFF FOR W. BROADWAY

Majority Petitions of Protest Cause City Council to Stop Procedure

The proposed improvement of a cutoff at West Broadway at Central last night was abandoned by the City Council.

A petition, signed by 62 per cent of the property owners interested, protesting against the improvement was introduced by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie.

"That automatically knocks it out," said councilmen, referring to the effect of the petition on the procedure.

City Attorney Hartley Shaw remarked later in the evening that the petition was not legal because the technicality of having the signatures attested by a notary had been neglected.

Upon motion of Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson, however, the council voted to sustain the intention of the property owners and abandon the proceedings.

JOHN SCOTT, RECENT OUTCAST IN BASEBALL, HURLS HIMSELF INTO FAME, ALLOWING BUT FOUR HITS

Waite Hoyt Is Pounded By McGraw's Men; Ruth Hooted By Crowd When He Deliberately Bumps Groh Off His Feet; Series 2 to 0 Now

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—John Scott, a baseball outcast less than three months ago, shunned like a prairie dog as he went the rounds pulling managerial door bells, pitched himself into fame and fortune and the Giants into their second victory over the Yankees in the world series this afternoon. The score was 3 to 0. Not wanted anywhere after the Cincinnati Reds had turned him out on a cold and indifferent world at the start of the present season, Scott finally prevailed upon John McGraw to give ear to his pleas late in the season and today the refugee repaid his benefactor by pitching the greatest game of the series.

Only four hits were made off Scott's delivery and one of them, a scratch bingle by Bob Meusel, started a near rally in the seventh. But Scott fanned Elmer Smith, pinch hitter, who was hitting for Ward, and disposed of Everett Scott on a grounder to Bancroft, the rally becoming a relapse without further notice.

The Giants manhandled Waite Hoyt right merrily and the contrast of their own ineptitude with the success of the National league entry seemed to upset the Yankees' equanimity and ultimately led to some unpleasantness when Ruth deliberately bumped Groh off his feet when caught at third in the fourth inning. This ill-matched pair were separated with difficulty by Umpire Hildebrand and Ruth was roundly hooted by the crowd every time he poked his nose above the dug-out thereafter.

The defeat threw the Yanks back on their haunches with the standing of the series reading two victories to none against them.

Ruth kept going past second and crashed into Groh at third, knocking the Giant third baseman down. Groh held the ball, however, and Ruth was out. Frisch was charged with an error in fielding Meusel's grounder.

No runs; no hits; one error.

councilman by the name of William Anderson, who was also a contractor, and I asked him for a job. I was given work immediately and the first house I worked on was built for Mrs. Potter, and it is still standing on a lot on Everett street, between Harvard street and Broadway.

"At that time the business section was at Glendale avenue and Broadday, and Glendale and Wilson avenues, with the Thomas Watson and Ayers buildings as the prominent landmarks. The business activities were featured by the operation of a bank, drug store, pool room, bakery and grocery store.

"I worked as a carpenter for a year, until one day the mayor, Thomas Watson, stopped me and asked me if I would serve as city marshal if I were elected. I said yes, and my name was submitted to a vote, but when I went to the polls I didn't vote for myself, because I wasn't crazy for the job. Anyway, I was elected and was re-elected two terms and then appointed by the council for my last term, which ended with my election as justice of the peace.

Many Jobs In One

"When I say I was elected city marshal, the old-time residents of Glendale will appreciate it most, for it meant being city marshal, police force, fire chief, dog catcher and street sweeper, and all for the enormous salary of $75 a month.

"In those days there were more desperate characters to deal with, for the hobo gangs made constant journeys along the Southern Pacific railroad and they stopped at nothing. Peace officers in surrounding towns were killed, and in my position I was on a night and day shift in protecting Glendale people and their homes.

"But I never had to shoot but one man. I went down one night to visit a family by the name of Alston, living in the 300 block on West California. During the conversation Mr. Alston mentioned that their home had been threatened by hold-up men the night before. I asked him why he had not sent for me, and he replied that since his home was out of the city limits, he didn't suppose I would come. I assured him that I was ready to respond to any call, and to remember this.

Responds to Alarm

"The next night, long after midnight, I had a call from Alston, saying that three hold-up men were wandering around their home. So I called my night watchman, and told him to start for the Alston home, and that I would follow. But, before I could start, I received a phone call from a family by the name of Walker, on Orange street, saying that a hold-up man had just robbed their house, and that he was going in the direction of Harvard street and Brand boulevard.

"So I took my bicycle and rode down to Harvard and then east, when I found a man standing in the middle of the street, giving signals with bird calls. I commanded him to hold up his hands, and went up and was just putting the handcuffs on him when he grabbed my gun. I got the best of him, knocked him down and backed away and commanded him to hold up his hands, but he came for me. So I shot first over his head and then at him and hit him in the head.

"I then called the doctor and we took the wounded man to the county hospital, where he recovered, but was later sentenced to four years in prison.

"Yes sir, those were great days and we had some pretty hard propositions to deal with. One time Southern California was victim of a whole gang of postoffice robbers and in order to protect the local office I used to get up at 1 o'clock every morning and, armed with a shot gun and six-shooter, go down to the postoffice and lie in wait for any suspect, and believe me if they had tried anything on the Glendale postoffice they would sure have gotten all that was coming to them.

Fire Chief's Thrills

"The position of fire chief also had its thrills and going to a fire in those days was exciting, for everyone concerned. At first we had a two-wheeled hose reel and we had a man hired with a saddle horse to take the hose to the fires. He got two dollars every time he saddled his horse and went to a fire. Of course we had a dozen or so volunteer fire fighters and sometimes in the excitement the man riding the horse and pulling the hose reel would get to going so fast he'd run into the firemen.

"But pretty soon the city council decided we ought to have something more modern, so a high spring delivery wagon was purchased and I was sent over to Los Angeles to buy a fire horse. I fulfilled my duty and brought back a Wyoming dappled gray colt and broke him in. We got a set of drop harness, named our horse 'Laddie Boy' and installed them both in the fire hall, which is still standing out on Howard street.

"The only thing 'Laddie' couldn't do was talk. He assisted me in my duties as street sweeper by drawing a dump wagon and very often when we were out sweeping the streets the fire bell would ring and we would tear madly to the fire hall in the dump wagon and change to fire wagon and rush to the fire. We had about twelve volunteer firemen and when the bell rang they all came running and climbed on the fire wagon and away we went.

'Laddie' Makes Slip

"One time there was a fire down in the business section of Tropico and I and my deputy police officer climbed on the fire wagon and were hurrying down Central avenue to the fire. Suddenly 'Laddie' slipped and slid for about thirty feet and it frightened him so that when he got up he started in to kick. But I quieted him and we went on to the fire and saved $25,000 worth of property for Tropico. In appreciation the Tropico city council sent me $25 to distribute among the boys.

"Finally after several years we got a modern motor fire engine and the hardest thing I had to do was to sell 'Laddie.' He was only about seven years' old and in fine condition, but we had to sell him, and he was bought by a contractor for $100."

Mr. Miller also served two terms as justice of the peace. While serving in this capacity he took a course in law. He resigned from the office early this year because he wished to devote his time to business interests.

One of the interesting rooms of Mr. Miller's office building on East Broadway is the court room, where he presided as justice of the peace, and where he won a reputation for fair consideration and judgments, made in the majority of cases without the aid of a jury.

SAYS FUTURE TO SEE BIG CHANGE

Verdugo Woodlands Going Ahead Fast, Is Word on Development There

Daily the portion of Glendale so favorably known as Verdugo Woodlands becomes more valuable as other tracts are opened farther out in the Verdugo valley and the city expands.

As is pointed out by W. L. Twining, general manager of the F. P. Newport company, subdividers, Verdugo Woodlands is today a glimpse into the future of the foothills, for the development there shows the high class of homes being built in the "second Hollywood."

Successful sales have resulted as each new unit of Verdugo Woodlands has been marketed and resales at good profits are reported daily. However, it is the Glendale resident who is seeking a permanent home that Verdugo Woodlands really allures for there the business man finds real rest from the city's stir.

Wonders have been wrought by the consistent development done by the Newport people in Verdugo Woodlands and the day is just dawning for the occupancy of the many hillside sites by beautiful homes where Senor Teodora Verdugo first had his hacienda.

A visit to Verdugo Woodlands Sunday, or any day for that matter, will prove a revelation to those Glendale people who are not acquainted with the "little Switzerland" in our midst.

Unusual sleeves are still being featured.

TREES UPROOTED AS LAND CLEARS

Pre-Opening Sales Being Made at Sparr Heights, In Heart of Verdugo

Every three minutes a big orange tree is being uprooted by a powerful caterpillar tractor employed by the Francis-Barnum-Walters company in the development of Sparr Heights, the heart of the Verdugos, in Glendale and skirting the city to the north.

Ninety acres of the 1800 in the property now has been platted and pre-opening sales are being made at the tract office in Verdugo road at Montrose. As soon as the trees are taken out of the streets engineers will begin staking lots, setting grades and next week will see the work of development actively under way.

The company authorizes the following statement regarding the property:

"We have studied every feature of Sparr Heights configuration and so planned our boulevards and improvements that there will be no cut and dried rectangular streets except in the business district. Our roads will wind in and out and round about the knolls and rolling Verdugo Hills which provide majestic homesites overlooking Glendale.

"The lots will all necessarily be of different shape, size and character and each home be distinctive in itself. This will result in more elegant estates in this territory than in any other residential tract in the state of California and Sparr Heights will be the "show place" of the southland, simply because it will be a finished production along the lines of a comprehensive plan."

MRS. TIGHT AGAIN SELLING REALTY

Resumes Activities In Office After Boosting for New Hotel and Car Line

"Back on the job" is the slogan being used at present by Mrs. M. L. Tight of 612 East Broadway, pioneer real estate woman of Glendale, who has spent her summer's vacation right here at home boosting for the new Glendale hotel and the Glendale avenue electric line.

"Now I must get busy and reap the benefits of my boosting," said Mrs. Tight today, "and I want every reader of The Glendale Evening News to know that I am giving my personal attention to the real estate listings placed with my office."

Mrs. Tight holds records for turning more deals in a day than the men in the game. She predicts this will be the biggest season in the history of Glendale so far as sales are concerned, the only difficulty being the lack of listings, everybody being well satisfied and not selling their homes, for there is no better place to come than Glendale.

GUILD HOLDS MEETING

The regular meeting of St. Mark's Women's guild was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the guild hall with Mrs. Mortimer Baker, president, in charge. The afternoon was spent in quilting and completing plans for the dinner to be given by the guild at the church on October 19.

Brilliant Musical Season Opens With Concert Last Night

JOHN SMALLMAN,
Baritone singer, whose voice and interpretations of the numbers given by him at the Glendale Music Club concert at the high school auditorium last night, won the favor of the large audience of music lovers attending.

Marking the beginning of a brilliant musical season the first concert of the fall season, given last night in the Glendale Union High school auditorium by the Glendale Music club, with Claire Forbes Crane, pianist; Julius Kranz of Glendale, violinist-composer; and John Smallman, baritone, as soloists, provided an evening of enjoyment to the more than 500 members of the club who attended and whose presence, evidently, was highly significant of the fact that the people of Glendale, through the local music organization, appreciate the opportunity of hearing good music and good musical artists.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the club, extended greetings to the members and told of the wide attention the activities of the club have been attracting. The membership includes not only residents of Glendale but of the various cities in this vicinity. The Glendale Music club is said to be the only organization of its kind in the United States will a full-fledged junior and juvenile auxiliaries and this fact has attracted national recognition. The club aims to not only put on a series of concerts by visiting artists but also to uphold the standing of the local artists.

First on Program

The first number on the program was a group of songs by John Smallman. This group included "Invocazione Di Orfeo" (Jacopo Peri), "Passing By" (Purcell), which charming song reflects the type of music in popular use during the early days of the eighteenth century, and "Promesse de mon avenir" (Massenet). As an encore, Mr. Smallman sang "Her Rose" (Whitney-Coombs). Mr. Smallman has a finely resonant baritone voice, with full, rich tones and enunciates with a clarity that is delightful.

The second number was Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata," played by Claire Forbes Crane, pianist, and which runs the gamut in its expression of human emotions. Mrs. Crane, who has appeared with the Boston Symphony orchestra and also the Philharmonic orchestra of Los Angeles, won her audience not only with her charming personality but with the vim and technique displayed in her interpretation of this and other numbers.

Original Compositions

The third number was a group of original compositions played by Julius Kranz, violinist-composer, accompanied at the piano by Miss Gertrude Champlain. The numbers given by him included "A Recollection" and "A Fancy," both of which had a suggestion of a delightful Spanish rhythm, and "At Twilight." The applause for this last number was so insistent that Mr. Kranz repeated it as an encore. Mr. Kranz recently returned to Glendale after several years' absence. He has created considerable attention not only by his work as a violinist but by his compositions.

The remainder of the program included the following numbers: "Celle Que Je Prefere" (Fourdain), "Le Coeur de ma mie" (Jaques-Dalcroze) and "Tes Yeux" (Rabey), by John Smallman, who sang "My Menagerie" (Fay Foster), as an encore. The next group was by Claire Forbes Crane, "Impromptu" (Chopin), "Melodie" (Rachmaninoff) and "Polichnelle" (Rachmaninoff). This last composition was so pleasing that as an encore she played "A Spanish Tango" (Aveniz). Mr. Smallman's next group included "At Night" (Rachmaninoff), "May Day Carol" (Deems Taylor), and "The West" (Cadman). The old-time favorite "Genevieve," given by him as an encore number, was thoroughly appreciated by the audience.

Next Month's Concert

The last number on this very interesting program was given by Mrs. Crane, who played "Love Dream" (Liszt) and "Rhapsody No. 10 (Liszt), which is notable for the graceful glissando scales, ascending and descending the key-board.

The program for next month's concert will be given by Sol Cohen, violinist, and Gertrude Ross, composer-pianist, both of whom have previously appeared before the members of the club with great success. Owing to the limited seating capacity of the high school auditorium, it has been necessary to hold admittance to the concerts to those having membership or guest coupons, each member being allowed two guest coupons for each half-year.

Many new blouses accent and repeatedly show berthas made of flat or pleated material or of lace.

LUMBER FOR HOSPITAL

"We have a young lumber yard up there now," remarked C. E. Kimlin, manager of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, commenting upon the arrival of about 90,000 feet of lumber for the construction of this institution's new building just east of Sinclair avenue and north of Broadway.

Over $1200 has been saved on the purchase of this lumber in advance of actual building operations. Although it is worth $35 or $40 a thousand feet it was secured for $22 a thousand feet because it was used for two weeks in the Pageant of Progress. About 100,000 feet of this lumber were ordered, said Mr. Kimlin.

Plans are now being revised to make the total cost conform with the budget estimate of $500,000. Mr. Kimlin stated that as soon as this has been done construction work will be commenced.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair; taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Advertisement.

To conscientiously advise our customers on the various building problems that may arise.

ADVERTISING AS GOOD NEWS

I have a friend who always says to me scornfully when she finds me reading the advertisements, "You don't believe the things you read in advertisements, do you?"

She doesn't. She would scorn to try and get bargains that she sees advertised in the papers. She knows they don't exist except in the imagination of the merchants. How does she know? Oh, because she is a superior person who has private access to a great deal of that kind of knowledge. You've met her. Maybe you don't know her under the same name that I do. But I am sure you know her.

Unfortunately her private sources of knowledge do not include a great many things that are downright facts.

One of them is that there are laws in a great many places against deliberate misrepresentation of facts in advertising.

Dishonest Advertising Didn't Pay

Another is that in many places advertising men have themselves banded together in organizations called Better Business Commissions to carry out the ideal of using strict truth in all their advertisements. This movement started ten years ago and was a protest against certain tendencies in advertising which were creating mistrust in the minds of the public and making good business men hesitate about advertising their wares. The motto of the associations is that truth is the cornerstone of all honorable and successful business, and its principle is that advertising will be a strong power in the long run if it is based on absolute truth.

This commission established vigilance committees to examine advertising of all kinds and note all announcements that seemed exaggerated or misleading, examine the merchandise, and where mistakes or mis-statements appeared, to report to the commission. The commission then went after the merchant making the misleading statement.

They Asked for More

You can imagine how the merchants hated that, can't you?

But they didn't. That's the most marvelous part of it. As a matter of fact they found the commission so helpful that other cities began to demand similar organizations and now there are 36 commissions giving all their time to such work and 30 more giving part time.

They employ shoppers who report to the directors who confer with the owner of the store. Often he is glad to have the error pointed out because it is a case of a mistake, or a careless or even a deliberate overstatement on the part of a department head. Sometimes the exaggeration was intentional and the merchant has to be shown the error of his ways by methods of publicity or even by prosecution. But out of 2500 cases handled in one city only eight required prosecution.

Honesty is the best policy.

What Fools They Would Be!

A shop that has a reputation for square dealing would not sell it for many thousands of dollars. Surely not for a few hundreds to be obtained by misrepresentation of some article in a sale.

But the honest merchant is at times at a disadvantage when he has to struggle with the competition of the dishonest fly-by-night advertiser. And as there are more honest merchants than dishonest ones in the run of the mill no wonder they want to join together.

And isn't it a joy to us, the public, to know that they are doing that and that advertising is coming to be what it ought to be, simply news about merchandising, good news of what the various stores have to offer us?

Tomorrow—Why Men Blame

They Say That

One person of every three, approximately, in the United States, resides on a farm. Census bureau figures show a total farm population of 31,614,269, or 29.9 per cent of the whole population of the country. These figures represent those who actually live on farms, and not in villages or small towns.

This is a large percentage. Combined with the so-termed "rural" population, which comprises those living in incorporated cities and villages having fewer than 2500 inhabitants each, unincorporated hamlets, mining regions and other areas not devoted to agriculture—the number of residents outside the cities constitutes more than half the total population—61 per cent. But this 29.9 per cent is that portion of the population which actually lives on the soil and lives from the soil. It is upon this 29.9 per cent that the whole country and millions in other countries depend for sustenance. These 31,000,000 live in the greatest agricultural region in the world, measured by volume and value of production. It is these that make America the granary of the world.

AGAINST CATTLE DIPPING

Wanton destruction of cattle-dipping vats in Echols county, Georgia, has been reported to the United States department of agriculture. Numerous reports of the opposition to cattle-dipping in Florida, Georgia and other parts of the south have been received. Although the destruction of these vats by a lawless element was given wide publicity throughout the country, records of the department of agriculture show that during the month of August practically all the cattle in Echols county were dipped under federal or state supervision.

LADY RHONDDA OUTLINES HER IMPRESSIONS GAINED IN U. S.

Noted English Woman Urges Disarmament As Key to Allied Debt Reductions

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Copyright, 1922, by International News Service

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Until the people of Europe take serious steps toward disarmament they can not expect sympathy from the American people, nor can they expect any leniency with regard to the debt owed to America.

This is the message Lady Rhondda has brought back to England from the United States, where she spent the summer months.

"I found Americans everywhere interested in Anglo-American relations, but what is uppermost in their minds is the debt problem," Lady Rhondda said, in an interview with International News Service.

"This problem the English fail to understand. In the American mind the debt problem is inseparably connected with disarmament. I am sure that any sincere move toward disarmament would meet the whole-hearted sympathy and support of the Americans. I believe Lloyd George has his life's opportunity to make an appeal for disarmament, in the dramatic fashion in which he only is capable of making such an appeal."

Lady Rhondda admired American women, and she failed to find the "flapper menace" prevailing.

"American women are certainly more progressive than the English women, and they are filled with the joy of life, but they are just as capable, steady and well-poised as the English. What seems occasionally to be an exterior hardness in the American women is nothing more than a passionate desire for the welfare of their families.

"According to my observation the flapper problem in America is negligible and no more serious than it is in England. Every generation has its flappers, and it's up to us to try to sympathize with the flappers' viewpoint.

"American women are taking a great interest in politics. Their fight for absolute political equality will succeed. What is more, there is a great movement in the direction of 'clean politics.' I was amazed by the fight the women put up in Wisconsin, and although this is an extraordinarily progressive state I feel their example will be followed throughout America.

"I anticipate that the next twenty years will see a large representation of women both in the House of Representatives and the Senate, and it would not surprise me, and I say this advisedly, to see in my own lifetime an American woman President of the United States."

Lady Rhondda, who is the biggest business woman in Great Britain, believes that an era of prosperity faces America.

"America faces an era of tumultuous prosperity," Lady Rhondda said, "but I think she faces a serious problem regarding labor which is caused by the new immigration laws. As a large employer I know the difficulties of securing raw labor and can visualize America facing real difficulties within five years.

"Prohibition strikes me as a magnificent experiment. Every one at least admits that the working classes are greatly benefited by it."

Lady Rhondda announced that she has not yet given up hopes of being seated in the House of Lords, and she hopes to be able to secure legislation which will make it possible for women to sit in Lords as well as they now sit in Commons.

HAIR TONICS

Every woman should possess the formula for a good cold cream and a good hair tonic. As a matter of fact, by the intelligent use of these two things and a few simple lotions made from ingredients in daily use in every house, she can give herself as elaborate beauty treatments as she wishes.

Another day I will talk about the cold creams and the household formulas. Today I wish to give my hair tonic again because I know of no other that is as good or better. The formula follows:

Pilocarpine Hydrochlorate	2 grains
Precipitated Sulphur	30 grains
Creosol (Lilly)	30 drops
Castor Oil	10 drops
Alcohol (95 per cent)	4 ounces
Tr. Cantharides	4 drams
Cologne (Farina)	4 drams
Rose Water	8 ounces

This formula you may use at it stands, or you may make the following changes in it according to your needs. The pilocarpine is the most expensive ingredient in the formula and is to stimulate the color cells of the hair making the tonic invaluable for those suffering from premature grayness, or those whose hair has lost its richness of shade from ill-health. Without it, it is still a splendid general tonic. If there is no dandruff the sulphur and the castor oil may be left out. There is not enough of either to affect the quantity of the formula. Even with these three eliminated you have a formula containing an antiseptic, a strong stimulant in cantharides, alcohol sufficient to blend, and rosewater to make the proper quantity.

This should be used daily or two or three times a week.

Caroline — Consult a doctor about the condition of your eyes as you are inviting more trouble by putting off this treatment.

Reader — I think red vinegar would answer quite as well as white in the formula you sent me.

Envious Blonde—The juice of half a lemon in a basin of water, as the last rinse of the shampoo, will help to keep the hair light.

Gloria M.—Never massage cocoa butter into the face or neck as it may invite a growth of hair.

Amy—Consult the doctor concerning this growth on your leg and do not handle it any more as you have been doing.

F. A.—Bleach off these liver spots and clear the system. Close these enlarged pores by using astringents or ice after you have cleansed the skin.

Tomorrow — Foods to Make You Fat:

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

CHILDREN'S WEIGHTS

All children, of school age, should be weighed once each month, for nothing else shows so well that a child is making normal progress as his rate of gain. A regular gain in weight and height in an older child is as much a sign of health as in an infant.

When children are weighed "wholesale," that is in large groups, they are recorded according to a standard table of weights and heights. Both in weight and height healthy children of the same age vary a good deal; they are much modified by race and by family inheritance. There is, however, a standard weight for children of the same height and age. Age cannot be ignored. Of two children having the same height but of different ages the older child should weigh more than the younger one.

There are some children who are constitutionally thin and yet who seem to be in the best of health, showing none of the symptoms of malnutrition. They are usually the very active energetic type. All such children should have a complete medical examination and be closely watched to see that they keep well.

There are several common causes of a child's being continually underweight, and among them can be listed (1) food, which is insufficient in amount or improper for a child of his age; (2) bad food habits, eating too rapidly, not masticating food properly, eating irregularly and between meals; (3) excessive activity—too much hard play or hard work; (4) late hours, too little rest and sleep, resulting in excessive nervousness; (5) some defect like bad teeth, enlarged tonsils or adenoids.

A child much undernourished should have his school work reduced; the hours of active exercise or play should be reduced; he should have a rest period both in the forenoon and the afternoon; he should have a glass of milk or bread and milk just before the rest period, his hours in bed should be lengthened; the bedtime being not later than 8 o'clock; his diet should consist only of the simplest food, no sweets, ice cream and the like.

Diet and Health

I, I, I: I, MYSELF; I THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME

CHAPTER XXIX
Good Germ Babies

Do you know why mamas have to be so particular about the milk they give us babies? It is this: Milk is just as good a food for germ babies as it is for human babies. They just love it. And when some germ families get into the milk—migosh! They get along so well on the food it furnishes them that even in one day they will multiply until there are billions of 'em.

You know what germs are. They are the littlest plants you ever could think of. You can't see them at all except under a powerful microscope. These little plants are just like the plants and vegetables that you really can see. Some are very good and some are very bad.

You know how delicious mushrooms are. I never have tasted them yet but I know my Daddy just loves them. One day when we had them for dinner I heard my family discussing the case of an entire family being killed because they had gathered and eaten mushrooms that belonged to a poisonous family of plants. Wasn't that awful?

That's just the way it is with these little microscopic plants. Some are very poisonous, and mamas have to know about them so that they can protect their babies from them.

Before I tell you about the bad germs, I think I shall tell you something about the good ones. That is a good plan I think, don't you, to know all about the good that is possible and then know enough about the bad so that we can avoid it and prevent it?

First, I shall tell you about the good little germ plants in the soil called the nitrifying bacteria (bacteria is another name for germs). My, but they are important. They work on the nitrogen of the soil and air so that their big plant relations can eat it and grow.

If they did not do this work the poor big plants would die, all of them. Sometimes when the soil has very few of these wonderful germs, the farmer plants clover which seems to be good for these plants and large families grow at their roots. The farmers rotate their crops for the same purpose of encouraging these important nitrifying germs.

If these little nitrifying germs did not do their work and all vegetation died, where would we be? We would have to die too, wouldn't we? For animal life depends on vegetable life for its existence. You might think right away, oh, we could eat animals then. But you forget the animals would have nothing to eat, so there you are. Now you can see how very important some of these tiny germs are.

Then there are other germs that are good little germs that work for the human family, too. There are the germ families that flavor cheese, the lactic acid germs that sour milk, and the yeast germs that raise bread. And there are germs that are used in tanning leather and others used in other ways in commercial arts.

I must not forget to tell you about the germs that destroy dead vegetables and animal bodies so that they are resolved into the elements and go back to the earth. Otherwise there would be no room for us living things. Isn't that interesting? They are called Saphrocytes.

Now you know about some of the good little germs and how much they mean to the human family, and you will be glad to know that they outnumber the bad germs a million times. I must tell you something about the bad germs, too, for it is just as important to know about these microscopic plants that are harmful as it is for you to know the harmful plants that you can see, such as the poisonous mushrooms and poison ivy.

I shall tell you about these next week. Au revoir.

TROJANS TO MEET POMONA'S SQUAD ON SATURDAY

Annual Gridiron Battle to Draw Crowds; Vernon Muffs Good Chance

Everything is set for tomorrow's annual grid classic between the Univesity of Southern California and Pomona college, which is to be staged as a dedicatory contest to the new turf field at Claremont. The rivalry between these two teams is probably the keenest in the south, and although they are not in the same conference each one had rather win this game than any other of the season. This goes for Pomona more than for U. S. C., as the former is usually classed as the "under dog" when the game is mentioned.

With Johnny Boyle, the Trojans' one big bet when it comes to linemen, out of the game as a result of injuries received in last Saturday's tussle with the alumni the Blue and White squad apparently has the greatest chance to come out on top than it has had within several years. This was partially offset the early part of this week, however, when Leslie Baynham, Coach Nixon's 190-pound lineman and a mainstay in the forward wall, was incapacitated with a broken nose.

U. S. C., with backfield men of the caliber of Baker, Tiernan, Otto Anderson, Campbell, Kincaid, et al, and a line weighing more than fifteen pounds to the man more than that of Pomona, Coach "Gloomy Gus" Henderson's eleven is doped to win by about three or four touchdowns.

Tigers Clawed Up

The uncertainty of baseball was again displayed yesterday when the Vernon Tigers, with a chance to go into first place even though San Francisco won from Los Angeles, floundered miserably up in Oakland and dropped a double-header to the despised Acorns. Incidentally, this was the third consecutive defeat that Maier-men have suffered at the hands of Ivan Howard's Oaks—considerably different from the six out of seven game series which was won by the Tigers in their last series. In the first game Wheezer Dell, of recent no-hit no-run fame, was defeated in a pitchers' battle which resulted in a 1 to 0 score. Dell was opposed by Buzz Arlett, who let the Bengals down with three measly hits while his teammates were gathering seven. The second game was a slugging match each team using three pitchers and an abundance of pinch hitters. The final score was 11 to 8, the northerners' rally of five runs in the fifth frame proving too much for Bill Essick's hirelings.

Seals Dent Angels

The worst part of the afternoon for Vernon and its followers was the fact that San Francisco dented the Angels 3 to 0 for their first victory of the week against Los Angeles.

A team can't be expected to trim the league-leaders every day and get away with it and Vernon must show some snap before it's too late if a pennant is going to come to the southland again this year.

San Francisco led from the start in the Los Angeles game, putting over a couple of tallies in the opener and never even being threatened. McWeeney dealt the cards for the Seals, while the Angels hurling was done by George Lyon. Lyons was replaced in the final inning by Wallace after his place at the plate had been taken by Tom Daly in the home half of the eighth.

PLAN PURCHASER TO GET BENEFIT

Prospective Home Makers to Accrue Profit on Plan of Sale, Is Claim

John N. Smalley, owner of some beautiful foothill property in the San Rafael hills to the east of Glendale, cannot call his offering of homesites a subdivision, because it is something different.

Instead of having all city improvements at the present time, he is placing his property on the market to prospective home makers with the idea that they will accrue the profit which otherwise would go to the subdivision firm—usually 25 per cent of the sum paid for lots.

Hill Drive, the new scenic route which will hedge the foothills from Pasadena to Glendale, now terminates at Mr. Smalley's place and makes accessible these fine homesites overlooking all of Glendale—an unusual situation.

For those who would get this view, drive out Verdugo road to Sycamore canyon and follow Sierra avenue to Mr. Smalley's land. In returning, drop down into the heart of Glendale by the way of Hill drive.

"Jawn" McGraw, in looking over his pitching crew, must often heave a sigh when he thinks of Mathewson and a few of his other iron men of seasons past — men who could go the route and pull themselves out of a pinch; for, during the last month of the pennant fight, game after game saw nearly the entire personnel of Giant pitchers parade from mound to showers. We recall two games in one week where five pitchers were used by McGraw to pull a game out of the fire.

Jonnard, a recruit, tops the pitchers' percentage column; but soft spots have been picked for him.

Old Jack Scott, next in line of the Giant winners, is doing a comeback and did not get into the fray until late in the season. He is good at rescue work.

Jess Barnes, on paper, seems to be McGraw's ace, and the best that can be said of him is that he's just a good hurler.

Then comes Ryan. This season, is his first in which he has taken his regular turn. He has developed nothing that makes him stand out as a world beater.

Then there's Artie Nehf, one of the greatest southpaws in the game, but all season this port sider has been unable to hit his real stride.

And McQuillan, who came from Boston, completes the list. He is a much better flinger than his record shows. Had he been given the support of a team like the Giants all season there is no doubt that he would be considerably above his present rating.

Taken as a whole, these pitchers are good—but had McGraw one Joe Bush or Ed Rommel, someone to really bank on, his problem would be mighty easy comparatively. But we bet "Jawn" isn't sleeping any too well nights when he looks down the Yankee batting order and then thinks of the pitching his sluggers have got to face from Bush, Shawkey, Hoyt and Mays.

Casey Stengel Out Result of Injury

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—It is likely that the injury sustained by Casey Stengel suffered in the second inning yesterday will keep him out of the Giant line-up during the next few games of the world series. Stengel pulled up lame while running towards second base and was forced to retire from the line-up. He was quite lame this morning and unless the injury can be mended in the meantime, Cunningham will replace him in center field for today's game.

Protest Over Seats Allotted Club Heads

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—A protest against the allotment of world series seats to National league club owners by the New York Yanks has been voiced by John A. Heydler, president of the league, in a letter to Colonel Ruppert, part owner of the club. The letter charges that the seats allotted are in the extreme north wing of the lower stand from the plate. Copies of the letter was sent to Judge Landis and Ban Johnson, who, with Heydler, compose the advisory council of baseball.

Boulder, Colo., is one place that is going to know all about Glendale if J. B. Allaback and F. B. Schroeder, former Boulderites but now associated with O. L. Zook in the realty business at 112-A East Broadway, carry out their plans.

Mr. Allaback has been in Glendale for five months, while Mr. Schroeder has been here but four weeks, and since they have joined Mr. Zook in business they've planned a campaign on Boulder, Colo., friends, to interest them in coming to live in Glendale.

With this in view they recently inserted an advertisement in one of the Boulder papers reciting the attractions of Glendale as a home city.

MISTER M'GRAW WISE OLD BIRD

Perhaps He Had His Team Under Wraps In Closing Days of Contest

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Glancing back along the trail laid bare by the 1922 pennant race in the National league, the impression is gained that the New York Giants, while inconsistent, always had the punch whenever it was needed.

Consider their record for the year. They were out of the lead three times, to wit: July 22 for one day, August 4 for one day and August 9 for three days. They were threatened often, however, in spite of getting away running by winning sixteen of their first twenty games.

Starting through the west, they won two straight from the Cardinals, then dropped two and fell into a protracted slump. By June 3 only a whisper separated them from Pittsburgh, and had the Pirates won that day they would have gone to the pace. But the Pirates were beaten. The Giants, seemingly, were through with trifling.

Knocked Them Over

They came back to the Polo Grounds and knocked off the Cubs, Reds and Pirates in a row, starting west again behind a five-game lead. Again they waxed indifferent, and by the time they reached St. Louis first place was the stake. They managed to get an even break; lost the lead in Cincinnati, July 22, but were back the following day and trailed into the Polo Grounds to meet the Cardinals with a single game lead at their disposal.

Threatened again, the Giants stepped out to win four of the five games. That seemed to be the beginning of the end. It wasn't. The Giants couldn't play ball with nothing to play for. Forthwith, they dropped seven in a row—four to the Pirates and three to the Reds—and on August 10 were a game and a half behind the Cardinals, their lowest estate of the campaign.

However, the Cards flopped simultaneously with another Giant winning streak, started in Brooklyn, and the McGraw entry again ventured into the west with a two-game lead. It was seven before they returned.

Reaching Pittsburgh they were confronted with the Douglas expose, and quite contrary to expectations began to win, taking two from the Pirates, two out of three from the Cubs, two straight from the Reds and three straight from the Cards. This rush through the west, in which nine games were won out of eleven played, virtually decided the pennant race.

British Army Men In Pitiful Plight

LONDON—Four years after the Armistice, the desperate plight of former British army officers today forms pitiful testimony to the price England is paying for "victory."

Former majors, captains and lieutenants—men cited for gallantry on the western front—are selling matches on the streets of London, giving "musical" concerts on the curb, with masks covering their faces to hide their identity, or doing the manual work of porters for a few shillings a week.

Hundreds of others are doing nothing. Unable to find work of any kind, they have raised their last distress signals, spent their gratuity, sold everything they possessed and are probably in debt for a week's lodging.

The tragedy of these men is revealed in poignant human documents, "in extremis" circulars which are issued weekly to members of the London Rotary Club. Most of the club members are employers of labor.

Circulars sent out by the ministry of labor give details of the two most urgent cases among about 4000 ex-officers who are looking for jobs.

Winners of the V. C. and D. S. O. are among the petitioners. Here are examples:

Captain, age 44, twenty-seven years' army service, would accept anything. At present living on proceeds of selling oranges.

Lieutenant, age 45, former secretary of the London Coalition Liberal organization and representative of textile houses. Willing to accept anything.

One cause of these cases of distress among ex-officers, according to officials of the ministry of labor, is the fact that they married in the war with the expectation that their civilian status would be equal to their army positions. Wives who expected to occupy well furnished homes and live on generous incomes now are existing in the lowest poverty in garrets and basements.

beauty spots at Verdugo Woodlands

Building, buying and public improvement activity is now at a high pitch at Verdugo Woodlands.

The main sewer is completed — and the laterals are now ready to lay—the first sewer system in the residential district of Glendale.

Gas is now assured.

Water pipes are being laid all over the valley.

Street paving, with cement curbs and gutters, will be commenced upon completion of underground improvements.

The present low prices of property may be sharply advanced at any moment, without notice.

Glendale's beautiful public park—recently purchased—adjoins Verdugo Woodlands. The purchase of this park is an overwhelming recognition of the unsurpassed beauty of this picturesque green valley.

Go out and look over the situation. Don't let the best thing in residence property in Southern California get away from you, when it is right in your own town. Remember—choice wooded sites as low as $950.

FAIRVIEW

Lots 50x150 — $750 to $875

$50 Cash, $15 per mo. 5% Discount for Cash

We have never offered choicer property than that in our 10th unit. It is bordered on the entire east side by beautiful pine trees. The lots are full-sized with highest restrictions, and seven of them have been sold to a contractor who will immediately start the construction of seven $5,000 houses.

Where can you buy for these prices and on these terms such choice property as that in the 10th unit of Fairview?

Located in the west end of the City of Glendale, directly above the Pacific Electric line with a stop on the property. It is on a beautiful slope with an unexcelled view of mountains and valley.

The 10th unit of Fairview offers an exceptional opportunity to builders. A saving of approximately $1000 a lot enables a builder to give so much better value in houses of this class, that they find a very ready sale at as good or better profit. We urge all builders to investigate the 10th unit of Fairview, which is the best property with the highest restrictions that we have ever offered.

Come to our office today or phone for an appointment. If you come Saturday or Sunday, drive out San Fernando Road to Alameda Street, the Moreland factory, then one block to right to Tract Office.

Real Estate Oppe Will Make You W In America's Be

OPPORTUNITY—a magic word to most of us—holds forth in Glendale TODAY.

It beckons to the old resident as well as the newcomer. It is omnipresent in all sections of the city and its environs.

For those who have lived their yesterdays in Glendale, they have seen OPPORTUNITY rap repeatedly at their doors. Some accepted and grew wealthy, others prospered in spite of their doubts, few have failed to "make good" in anything undertaken here.

In its yesterday, or history, Glendale has shown a remarkable growth from a barley field to a city of homes. It has improved with age until today it stands head and shoulders above all others of its class.

The growth here has not been the result of any boom, such as oil or gold brings to a community. Glendale has builded on its MERITS alone as the best residential section suburban to Los Angeles.

Commuters by the thousands have settled here. Industries have succeeded and given a permanent payroll to the city of homes. Business establishments have prospered with the people and building keeps exceeding all former records.

Development work has been pushed to the limit to meet with the demands of newcomers, new tracts, new subdivisions, and practically all close-in vacant property being taken up as fast as it is offered.

Practically all vacant property between Glendale and Los Angeles has been subdivided and most of it sold.

So the development turns toward the foothills and soon Glendale will be built solidly back into the San Fernando and Verdugo Valleys, making Burbank, Glendale, Eagle Rock and Montrose townsite all one.

In the last few days millions of dollars worth of property has changed hands, some bought by speculators, to be sure, but the most of it for homes, bungalow courts or business blocks. THIS SALES ACTIVITY WILL CONTINUE.

There is no question about the future of Glendale. All that is necessary now is for the investor to use IMAGINATION—to see what TOMORROW holds forth.

SATURDAY EVENT FOR BOY SCOUTS

Will Parade to Park From High School and Assist Kiwanis and Rotary

Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills District Council will meet at the Union High school at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and march in troop formation to the Kiwanis-Rotary outing at Park avenue and San Fernando road.

The various troops of the city have been requested to turn out with their troop flags and other troop equipment, according to H. F. Benner, scout executive.

The event Saturday, which is to begin at 2 o'clock, is being given by the local clubs to help raise funds with which to carry on scout work in this district. Tickets are being sold which will entitle the purchaser to witness the many events being planned.

On the program already announced are two ball games, one between the Kiwanis and Rotary and another between the Glendale Merchants, and, according to present plans, the Eagle Rock Eagles.

At the grounds the scouts will assist with the parking of autos and sell cold drinks. Proceeds from their activities at the park will also go toward the budget of the local council.

Huge collars top the straight coat.

Seek Screen Stars From Colleges Now

LOS ANGELES — The future stars of the screen will come from the American universities.

At least such is the belief of Marshal Neilan, director-producer of motion pictures, who is planning a tour of the country to visit the leading educational institutions in search of material. Neilan is now said to be in correspondence with the presidents of several large colleges regarding co-operation in finding screen talent.

"I firmly believe the future photoplay stars will be drawn from the American colleges," Neilan said. "More breeding, good looks and culture are found among university students than any other class."

FLOOD OF INQUIRIES

With the tariff bill a law, government officials are swamped under inquiries and complaints from foreign governments concerning its operations. The state department has turned over to the senate foreign relations committee a mass of these inquiries and complaints. The committee probably will not take them up until the special session of congress in November. By that time, it is believed, it will be known how the law is going to affect trade.

In the special session demands will be made to change a score or more of the act's important provisions. Indications are that the effort to obtain a dye embargo will be renewed.

Without a word to his companions the Frenchman left the cabin, but once outside he ran up the companionway to the deck with the speed of a squirrel. Nor was he an instant too soon, for as he emerged from below he saw the figure of a man disappearing forward.

"Hey, there, you!" he cried. "Come back here."

The mucker turned, a sulky scowl upon his lowering countenance, and the second officer saw that it was the fellow who had given Ward such a trimming the first day out.

"Oh, it's you, is it, Byrne?" he said, in a not unpleasant tone. "Come to my quarters a moment, I want to speak with you," and so saying he wheeled about and retraced his way below, the seaman at his heels.

"My man," said Theriere, once the two were behind the closed door of the officer's cabin, "I needn't ask how much you overheard of the conversation in the captain's cabin. If you hadn't heard a great deal more than you should you wouldn't have been so keen to escape detection just now. What I wanted to say is this. Keep a close tongue in your head and stick by me in what's going to happen in the next few days. This bunch," he jerked his thumb in the direction of the captain's cabin, 'are fixing their necks for halters, an' I for one don't intend to poke my head through any noose of another man's making. There's more in this thing if its handled right, and handled without too many men in on the whack-up than we can get out of it if that man Divine has to be counted in. I've a plan of my own, an' it won't take but three or four of us to put it across."

"You don't like Ward," he continued, "and you may be almighty sure that Mr. Ward ain't losing any sleep nights over love of you. If you stick to that bunch Ward will do you out of your share as sure as you are a foot high, an' the chances are that he'll do you out of a whole lot more besides—as a matter of fact, Byrne, you're a mighty poor life insuranace risk right now, with a life expectancy that's pretty near minus as long as Bender Ward is on the same ship with you. Do you understand what I mean?"

"Aw," said Billy Byrne, "I ain't afraid o' that stiff. Let him make any funny crack at me an' I'll cave in a handful of slats for him—the piker."

"That's all right, too, Byrne," said Theriere. "Of course you can do it if anybody can, provided you get the chance; but Ward is not the man to give you any chance. There may be shooting necessary within the next day or so, and there's nothing to prevent Ward letting you have it in the back, purely by accident; and if he don't do it then there'll be all kinds of opportunities for it before any of us ever see a white man's port again. He'll get you, Byrne; he's that kind.

"Now, with my proposition you'll be shut of Ward, Skipper Simms and Divine. There'll be more money in it for you, an' you won't have to go around expecting a bullet in the small of your back every minute. What do you say? Are you game, or shall I have to go back to Skipper Simms and Ward and tell them that I caught you eavesdropping?"

"Oh, I'm game," said Billy Byrne, "if you'll promise me a square deal on the divvy."

The Frenchman extended his hand.

"Let's shake on it," he said.

Billy took the proffered palm in his.

"That's a go," he said; "but hadn't you better wise me to wot's doin'."

"Not now," said Theriere, "someone might overhear just as you did. Wait a bit until I have a better opportunity, and I'll tell you all there is to know. In the meantime think over who'd be the best men to let into this with us—we'll need three of four more besides ourselves. Now go on deck about your duties as though nothing had happened, and if I'm a bit rougher than usual with you you'll understand that it's to avert any possible suspicion later."

"I'm next," said Billy Byrne.

CHAPTER IV.
Piracy

By dusk the trim little brigantine was scudding away toward the west before a wind that could not have suited her better had it been made to order at the special behest of the devil himself to speed his minions upon their devil's work.

All hands were in the best of humor. The crew had forgotten their recent rancor at not having been permitted shore leave at Honolulu in the expectancy of adventure in the near future, for there was that in the atmosphere of the Halfmoon which proclaimed louder than words the proximity of excitement, and the goal toward which they had been sailing since they left San Francisco.

Skipper Simms and Divine were elated at the luck which had brought them to Honolulu in the nick of time, and at the success of Theriere's mission at the port. They had figured upon a week at least there before the second officer of the Halfmoon could ingratiate himself sufficiently into the good-will of the Hardings to learn their plans, and now they were congratulating themselves upon their acumen in selecting so fit an agent as the Frenchman for the work he had handled so expeditiously and so well.

Ward was pleased that he had not been forced to prolong the galling masquerade of valet to his inferior officer. He was hopeful, too, that coming events would bring to the fore an opportunity to satisfy the vengeance he had inwardly sworn against the sailor who had so roughly manhandled him a few weeks past—Theriere had not been in error in his estimate of his fellow officer.

RADIO DEVELOPS RAPIDLY ABROAD

Japan to Link Islands of Empire; Chosen Strait Will Be Spanned

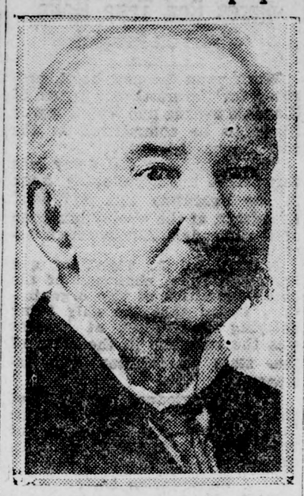
WASHINGTON — Reports to the Commerce of Department from its agents abroad indicate that radio development is generally proceeding rapidly.

The Japanese government has mapped out a plan for linking up the various islands of the Empire by wireless telephone and telegraph, American Vice-Consul Corell, at Nagasaki, reported. The first step will be taken this month, Corell said, when telephone communication by radio will be opened across the Chosen Strait. The stations at Fukuoka and Fusan contain the necessary equipment, and it is expected that the shipping along the coasts of Kiushu and Chosen will take advantage of this service, Corell stated.

No laws have yet been passed to govern wireless telephony in Argentina, according to Commercial Attache Feely, but a bill is being drafted for presentation to the next Congress to regulate the use of radio sets. No regulations at the present time in effect prevent the sale of broadcasting and receiving sets, Feely reported.

The latter, he said, are being sold to some extent locally, but of very inferior quality, and sell at from 200 to 700 pesos.

He's Oldest Active Editor of Newspaper



John T. Beem, publisher and editor of the Duquoin, Ill., Tribune," began his career as a printer's devil when he was 10 years old, and has spent 72 years in the profession, now being 82 years old. He served with the federal army during the civil war, the only breach in his record of continuous newspaper service, and is recognized as the "grand old man" of American journalism. His most treasured writing is a letter of congratulations he received on his 82nd birthday, observed on August 23, last, from President Harding, a brother publisher and editor.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES
By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

ANTENNA AMMETERS

We recently drew attention to the above subject. Since then the ammeter shown herewith has appeared. An antenna ammeter, if the best results are expected, is positively essential in a C W transformer set. Only by the use of such a meter can the experimenter hold proper check on the operation of his tube transmitter.

This ammeter is of the hot wire type. It has been designed with a view to accuracy and sensitivity to slight current variations; moreover, particular care has been taken to insure it remaining accurate through a long period of use.

As shown in the illustration, it is so constructed that it can be mounted flush with the transmitting panel or be back connected. A special adjustment for taking care of temperature variations is provided. Its size is 21-3x3-4 inches, particularly adaptable for small panel sets.

RADIO EXPLAINED
BY LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

EFFECTS OF ELECTRIC CURRENT

Electricity may be stored in an apparatus called a condenser, as air is stored under pressure in a tank, certain characteristic effects accompanying the condition. However, the most practical applications of electricity follow from the movement of electric charges—that is, electric current. Quantity of electricity is of importance in connection with subjects such as electrons and capacitance, which will be dealt with in their order in future articles.

A wire in which an electric current is passing acts exactly like a wire without current. Our senses are not directly impressed. The electric current itself cannot be seen, heard, smelt or tasted. Its presence can only be detected by its effects—that is, by what happens when it gives up some of its energy, such as causing a motor to turn or deflect the needle of a measuring instrument such as an ammeter. Electrical energy has then been given up and, in the case of the motor, mechanical energy takes its place. Similarly electrical energy may disappear and heat or light take its place, or a chemical action or effect may arise. When a person feels an electric shock it is not the current itself he felt but the muscular contractions caused by the passage of the current. The electric lamp has an effect on the eye. We do not, however, see the current in the lamp, but the effect on the eye is due to the light waves sent off by the hot filament of the lamp.

So innumerable analogies could be quoted to show the effects of electric current. In the succeeding articles actual practical effects, which in turn are effective towards radio communication, will be shown.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories
— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND NANNIE'S PIE

"Well, that's a queer thing!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped over the field not far from his hollow stump bungalow one day. The bunny rabbit gentleman stopped and looked at something round and yellow lying in the grass. "Very queer, indeed, I'll say!" went on Mr. Longears.

"Nurse Jane has lost one of her pumpkin pies!" laughed the rabbit. "She must have been taking it over to Mrs. Twistytail, or to Grandpa Goosey Gander, and she dropped the pie in the grass and never knew it."

"Well, as I'm a bit hungry for pie, I'll eat this one, and then go back to my bungalow and get another, when Nurse Jane tells me for whom she intended it," thought the rabbit.

Uncle Wiggily leaned over, picked up the round yellow object and started to take a bite from it. But his teeth closed on something hard.

"Why, it's a stone!" exclaimed the rabbit. "A round, yellow stone that looks like a pumpkin pie. No wonder I was fooled! I'm glad I didn't bite too hard or I'd have broken off all my teeth. My! I never before saw a stone that looked so much like a pie. I'll keep it to show Nurse Jane.

With the round yellow stone, which looked like a pumpkin pie, Uncle Wiggily hopped on and on over the fields until he reached the house where Billie and Nannie Wagtail, the goat children, lived.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Won't you come in?" bleated Nannie. "I'm home all alone, and I have something very hard to do. Maybe you can help me."

"Have you a hard example in number work to do, or some hard words in spelling to learn?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, it isn't that!" bleated Nannie. "But mother has gone out, and she said when she came home she wanted me to have one all done."

"One what?" asked the bunny, puzzled like.

"One pie," answered Nannie. "You know, mother has been giving me cooking lessons. She showed me how to make a pie and now she wants me to do one all by myself, and I can't do it! I know I'll spoil it, and I think it's real mean—so there!"

"Why, Nannie!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "You know how to make a pie, don't you?"

"Ye-ye-yes; I know how, if mother stays in the kitchen," said Nannie. "But she isn't there, and—"

"That's just why she isn't here!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "She wants you to learn to do things for yourself. Come now, I'll make believe I don't know anything about pies. And I don't know much, for look what I picked up and tried to eat, thinking it was a pie!" and the bunny showed Nannie the round flat yellow stone.

"Oh, how funny!" laughed the little goat girl.

"Now show me that you can bake a better pie than this make-believe stone one I found," went on Uncle Wiggily. "Just remember what your mother showed you and taught you. What's the first thing to do when you bake a pie, Nannie?"

"First, I must see that I have a good, hot fire in the stove," spoke the little goat girl.

"Good! That's easy!" laughed the bunny. "That's number one. What's next, Nannie?"

"Oh, let me see! Why, I must make up my mind what kind of a pie I am going to make, get the filling ready and then make the crust. And I must keep the pie crust cool so it will be flaky and short. Then I'll roll out the crust, put in the filling and bake it in the oven!"

"There you are! As easy as pie!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Now start in, Nannie!"

So she said she would make an apple pie, and, after paring and quartering and slicing the apples, she made her pie crust, first having built a roaring fire in the stove.

Soon the pie was in the oven, baking.

"Oh, it's turning a lovely brown," bleated Nannie as she opened the oven door, letting out a most delicious smell.

"Never tell me again," laughed Uncle Wiggily, "that you can't bake a pie, Nannie!"

"No, I never will!" laughed Nannie.

"And never tell me that I can't catch a rabbit!" suddenly howled a most unpleasant voice, and into the kitchen burst the Skillery Scallery Alligator. He looked hungrily at Uncle Wiggily's ears and then the Alligator asked:

"What smells so good?"

"Pie, if you please," faintly spoke Nannie.

"Ah! First I'll eat a pie and then I'll nibble ears!" bellowed the 'Gator.

"Here you are! A pie all ready for you!" quickly cried Uncle Wiggily. The bunny handed to the 'Gator the round, hard yellow stone.

"Oh, a pumpkin pie! Good!" cried the 'Gator.

"Oh, a pumpkin pie! Good!" cried the 'Gator, taking a large bit. But the next moment he cried: "Bad! Bad! Not good but bad! Oh, I've broken off a lot of my teeth and now I can't nibble ears! Oh, wow!"

And away he ran, lashing his tail.

"He! He!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "It's a good thing I picked up that stone that looked like a pie."

"Yes," agreed Nannie. And, oh! My pie is burning!" she cried. But she opened the oven door, just in time, and the pie was baked just brown enough, and when it was cool Nannie gave Uncle Wiggily a piece of it.

So everything ended happily. And if the ice pick doesn't take all the raisins out of the huckleberry pudding, and make it look like chocolate cake, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Dottie's dress.

BUILDING PERMITS IN BURBANK ARE CLIMBING NOW

September Good Month and October Expected to Be Even Better, Report

The rapid growth of Burbank is indicated by the building permits for the month of September. The total for the month was $100,725 it is announced. Of that amount $28,000 represents the sum to be spent for the high school shop and gymnasium. The remaining amounts are said to represent the building of homes in the city.

Prospects for October are that the present month will go even higher.

Methodist Jubilee

The Methodist church of Burbank is holding a jubilee program this week. Members of the various churches in Burbank are attending as special guests, it is announced. The program for the week follows:

Tuesday night Dr. Benjamin S. Haywood, pastor of the Wilshire Methodist church of Los Angeles gave the address. Dr. Haywood recently returned from a tour of Europe and spoke on "Some Signboards at the Cross-roads of Europe."

Wednesday night's program includes a musicale given by the choir, with special numbers on the pipe organ. On Thursday night special guests consist of the city officials, Chamber of Commerce and the fraternal orders of the city. The address is to be delivered by Dr. Bromley Oxnam. His subject is "The Place of the Church in the Changing Social Order."

Exposition Is Over

The total amount taken in at Burbank's exposition amounted to $1,368.70, according to R. W. Colburn. Of that amount $194.60 will go to the Burbank Chamber of Commerce, it is announced. The booths took in $846, of which the chamber will get $42.30. The concession money totaled $94.45; the chamber will receive ten per cent of this amount.

There were 5710 paid admissions, which gives the chamber twenty-five per cent or $142.75.

Important School Meet

An important meeting is scheduled for Monday, October 9, at the new Burbank high school, it is announced. The public has been invited to attend.

According to the present program some of the executives of school affairs in Los Angeles county will be present and speak.

The department of music of the public schools will furnish music.

A number of other features are planned.

TOO MUCH MEAT HURTS KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you.

Eating too much meat may produce kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so that it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. —Advertisement.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Big Issues to Be Faced
Nonchalance Amazing
In Name of The Law
Britain Has Its Troubles

By Gil A. Cowan

GLENDALE has got to face some big issues mighty soon.

This is no note of alarm, but every city must attend to the needs of posterity or otherwise be left behind in the race for supremacy.

One of the best ways to retard growth of any community is not to adequately meet issues face to face and act accordingly.

Sewage is one of the biggest problems in which Glendale is not alone, for every city in the metropolitan area is similarly concerned.

The board of supervisors of Los Angeles county should at once initiate the ways and means to form a district to handle this question.

Water also must be developed in Glendale on a greater scale and the Verdugo canyon springs must be made to produce the maximum. There is every reason to believe that the day will come soon when more than 150,000 people will live in the present corporate limits of this city and more than a quarter of a million north of the Los Angeles river and west of the Arroyo Seco, to the east of the Hollywood hills.

Truly, no one can begin to realize the rapidity of development in this section, for Glendale is but one part of it. Go out into the San Rafael and Verdugo hills Sunday and see for yourself.

It will be well worth your effort to climb to the top of Mount Verdugo and see not a few things, but have your eyes opened to what "Glendale" means on the map.

Buildings spring up over night, thousands of new acres of real estate are thrown on the market, millions of dollars' worth of property is passed from one to another with a nonchalance that is amazing.

On other pages of tonight's Evening News read of the opportunities existing here today. Mortal mind cannot conceive of the progress being made in many lines, but all civic and municipal affairs must go ahead apace.

That will be the secret to the continued success of "the fastest growing city in America."

Let's go.

While we are on our way we might stop to remark that the Supreme Court undoubtedly will show better judgment in reviewing the Glendale Pacific Electric rate case than Chester Rowell and other members of the railroad commission.

During the hearing in Los Angeles some months ago Mr. Rowell could not understand that high fares to Glendale was an economic and political issue. Governor Stephens, however, knows now that it was. Mr. Rowell also will know the same when Friend W. Richardson names the railroad commission during the next administration.

Something was started at the Rotary club yesterday which may bear fruit. The viciousness of the present judicial system, the inadequacy of the laws to cope with criminals and the corrupt conditions in the county jail were but briefly touched upon.

No one in particular can be blamed for those things which should never be countenanced by society, yet they exist because of the apathy displayed by American citizens.

May other organizations put the wheels in motibn which will rectify the wrongs now being done innocent men, women and children by the state IN THE NAME OF THE LAW.

America is not alone in peril of the LAW. According to correspondents in England the income tax there is three-fold worse than here. It is impossible for the poor man in Britain to get ahead, for whatever he makes is literally seized upon by the iniquitous hounds who are called officers, but in reality are hiighwaymen dressed to play the part.

FINGERPRINT COLLECTION

The largest collection of fingerprints of criminals in America is that belonging to the Leavenworth, Kansas, penitentiary. Long-term prisoners arrange and classify the 250,000 prints that bring them more cell mates.

EXPLAINS DELAY BUILDING HOTEL

Mrs. Mabel L. Tight Declares Red Tape Halts Plans on Project

Work upon the new hotel, proposed for the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway, is likely to be commenced in the near future, it is said.

The reason for the delay was commented upon yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn, 637 East Broadway, at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Advancement association.

Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, of 612 East Broadway, chairman of the hotel committee of this organization, stated that the only thing delaying the project at present was the red tape in the office of the state corporation commissioner.

C. W. Ingledue, president of the association, expressed a hope that this red tape might be cut before long and actual construction work started.

Subscription Lists

P. J. Hayselden, chairman of the railroad committee, stated that attempts were being made to secure the return of all subscription lists which were not being actually used to secure new pledges. He asserted that it would be impossible to announce any definite total until these returns are in.

The announcement that J. E. Farnum, who lives south of Glendale, had raised $660 among his neighbors for the Glendale car line was received with applause. The opinion was expressed that, if all the members of the association had worked as hard as he did, the entire $25,000 bonus would now be in the bank.

EXCHANGE CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Discuss Organization Welfare at Weekly Gathering, Broadway Inn

The Glendale Exchange club held its weekly luncheon at the Broadway Inn.

The welfare of the club was the principal topic of discussion. A number of members made suggestions.

Announcement was made that Capt. W. B. Kelly, 106 West Colorado street, president of the club, would be present at the next meeting to give a report of the national convention in Louisville, Kentucky.

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson was selected as chairman of the meeting. Vice-president G. C. McConnell, 633 East Broadway, who was injured Sunday morning in an automobile accident, was a late arrival.

Guests Attend Meeting

Guests of the occasion were H. W. Pinto of Los Angeles and E. P. Eiden of 710 East Broadway. Both expressed their appreciation of the invitation to attend. Edward N. Radke of 107 South Brand boulevard was accompanied by his small son, Edward Radke, Jr.

Membership blanks were distributed and many of those present pledged themselves to bring new members into the organization.

THURSDAY CLUB IN ENJOYABLE FALL MEETING HERE

Appoint New Committees and Announce Campaign for Members Soon

Enjoyable in every detail was the social meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club of Glendale, held yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1423 South Brand boulevard. This meeting after the summer vacation marks the opening of a year of unusual activity on the part of the organization.

Every member of the club has been appointed on a committee, and given specified work to do.

A membership drive is to be launched soon and a club bazaar will be held October 25, for which the members of the committees are fast completing arrangements.

A short business session was held with the president, Mrs. W. C. Mabry in the chair.

Minutes for two call meetings were read by the recording secretary, Miss Eva Daniels, and approved.

Extend Vote of Thanks

A motion was carried to extend a vote of thanks to Dr. W. C. Mabry, for the timely assistance in securing from the city manager permission for the club to have the use of the chairs that have been stored in the old city hall.

In a brief, inspiring talk, the president said in part:

"Our state federation is asking that we build our work this year around the theme of peace. What can we do to help bring about this great undertaking of world peace?

"Many times it has been said that war will end when the women of the world band together for peace.

"Let us keep ourselves informed and keep in close touch with other women's organizations, not only in our community, but all over the United States and the world, that we may do our share toward bringing about world peace."

Julius Kranz, composer-violinist, who scored a decided success with his presentation of a group of three original compositions at the Glendale Music club concert last night, has consented to play tonight at the teachers' welcome to be given at the high school by the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations. Miss Gertrude Champlain will accompany him at the piano.

Navy Recruit to Be Quizzed About Crime

Norman George Bennett, 16-years old and a naval recruit at the Norfolk, Va., naval training station, who is to be questioned by the police officials at Baltimore. Young Bennett asserts he was the companion of a man he knew only as "Red," the night "Red" is alleged to have killed 6-year-old Clara Stone, on the outskirts of Baltimore last February.

Young Bennett's mother, however, asserts the boy's confession is merely for the purpose of having an opportunity to get a release from the navy and receive transportation to his home at the government's expense.

CITY TO SECURE NORTHWEST LAND

Property Adjoining Patterson Site Taken by City Council for Sum of $10,000

that the property would be used for no other purpose.

Mayor In Favor

Mayor Spencer Robinson stated that he had been in favor of purchasing this property. In fact, that he thought it desirable to acquire property for park purposes in different parts of the city wherever possible. He asserted, however, that he had objected to the original contract because it had obligated the city administration to beautify the park at once which he said city finances would not permit. He reminded those present that the property might not be improved for some time.

Councilman Sam Davis announced at this time that he was opposed to the purchase of additional acreage until the present Patterson Avenue Park had been improved. He characterized its present condition as a disgrace to the city. He asserted that the city would be better off with a well-kept ten acre park than a twenty-three acre field. He said that he would be in favor of spending the entire $10,000 proposed to be used to purchase the new property, for the improvement of the Patterson Avenue Park.

Many Lots Sold

Mr. Grey stated that it was scarcely fair to Mr. Hahn to purchase the property and allow it to remain idle for a long time. He called attention to the fact that a great many lots have been sold in its vicinity recently and that many families are intending to erect homes there. He stated that the additional taxes derived from nighboring property on account of its increased valuation because of the improvement would make the beautification of the park in the near future a business-like thing to do.

Mr. Mitchell remarked that it takes some time for shade trees to grow and that it would be a wise thing to have trees set out on the property so that "by the time he had to go to heaven" the park will be suitable for recreation purposes.

BUYS TEN ACRES ON SAN FERNANDO

Will Subdivide Property In Near Future to Take Care of Demand

L. H. Wilson, well known real estate dealer on San Fernando who has the windmill office building, announces the purchase of ten acres on South San Fernando from Louise Glassell Shorb, one of the pioneers of this vicinity. The consideration was approximately $75,000.

Mr. Wilson will subdivide this valuable close-in vacant property, which has for years been producing wine grapes, within the next ninety days as there is a great demand for San Fernando boulevard frontage.

JAPANESE WILL SPEAK

Tropico— Presbyterian church will be the scene tomorrow night of a social meeting of the Japanese and American Friends' organization. There will be music by members of the Glendale Congregational church and Rev. T. Kaneko, Japanese pastor of Los Angeles, will be the chief speaker. The program is to begin at 8 o'clock and at the close of the affair the Japanese will serve refreshments.

RANDALL HAS CURE FOR PROFITEERING

Proposes a Business Usury Law, Limiting Profits of Corporations Dealing in Necessities of Life—Will Introduce Bill in Congress

Startling his hearers with the boldness and apparent effectiveness of his plan, former Congressman Charles H. Randall told the state labor convention at Long Beach on Tuesday afternoon of his purpose to introduce in Congress, if re-elected, a law to place a limit on the profits of every corporation in the United States. This is his method of curing the age-old evil of profiteering in the necessities of life.

"No one questions the sound policy," continued Mr. Randall before the convention, "of prohibiting the money shylock from collecting usurious interest upon his loans, hence we have usury laws in every state.

"No one questions the wisdom and the necessity of laws which control the profits which may be earned by public service corporations, through the rate making power.

"Then why should the giant corporations which distribute the necessities of life, food, fuel, shelter and clothing, be permitted to rob the people through inordinate profits?

"Corporations are creatures of the state, enjoying privileges granted by public authority. They are under some obligation to the power which created them.

"In as much as corporate interests control both the buying and selling end of the necessities of life, the earning power of corporate dollars should be limited by public authority to a reasonable amount.

"Having this in mind I am in favor of and will introduce in Congress, if elected, a bill to collect as a tax the excessive profits of corporations doing business for profit. Under the provisions of the proposed bill the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States is made ex-officio corporation commissioner of the United States and the reports of corporations are to be filed with him and the tax collected in much the same manner as the income tax is now determined and collected. The machinery of the Secretary of the Treasury for the collection of the income tax can be extended so as to include the necessary work in computing and determining this tax and collecting the same. Corporations will be allowed a reasonable net profit annually, and that profit has been tentatively placed at 20 per cent in this proposed bill. This would mean that every corporate dollar actually invested in a corporate enterprise and used in the same would be permitted to earn 20 per cent and all stock paid for in full or par would be permitted to earn the 20 per cent dividend, but stock issued for less than par would only participate to the extent that the corporation had received money, property or labor in payment for the same, that is, stock that is not paid for in full would not participate, to the extent of the water that is in the stock.

"Stock of corporations that is above par or where the assets are large and the capitalization low would receive 20 per cent on the actual or book value of its stock. All the excess net profits over 20 per cent shall go to the government as an income tax or excess profits tax and be paid into the United States Treasury. I might suggest that out of this could be paid the soldiers' bonus for most of the profiteering was done by those who remained at home, while the soldier was in Europe fighting our battles. It would be thus observed that the corporation's dollar will be able to participate to the extent of 20 per cent net profit and that the corporation is not thereby limited in its earning power, for all it has to do is to increase its capital and its business, just as an individual does when he desires to expand his business."

Speaking further as to what in his opinion would be the revenue derived from such source, Mr. Randall said, "I do not know how much revenue this bill would produce if in operation, but believe that it might be as much as a billion dollars the first year. This, of course, is based upon reports appearing in the newspapers where large corporations, such as the sugar trust and the tobacco companies, have been paying dividends annually as high as 100 per cent on the entire capital stock including the watered portion thereof."

Mr. Randall further stated that in his opinion the differences of capital and labor could more easily be adjusted if this became a law for the reason that the tendency of corporations will be to pay exces sprofits to labor in increased wages rather than to the government in taxes.

"If this bill becomes a law;" said Mr. Randall, "it will put all private industrial corporations on a par with public service corporations, because the Corporation Commissioner would occupy toward the private corporations practically the same position that the Railroad Commission of California and the Interstate Commerce Commission of the United States now holds toward the public service corporation."

NEW TRACT WILL HAVE MANY TREES

Glendale Heights Going Over the Top, Is Word; Plan Meetings In Grove

A contract has been let with Downing & Cox's nursery here for the planting of 1260 ornamental trees on the down-hill side of every street in Glendale Heights, the subdivision which is "going over the top" from Glendale's southern boundary right into Los Angeles.

Acacia, palm and bottle trees have been selected to line South Adams and other streets in the high-class residential subdivision which is but beginning to blossom forth.

A meeting will be held on the Tropico hilltop of Glendale Height on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the pavilion built in the grove, at which time Lon J. Haddock will speak of the potentialities of Southern California.

Again on Sunday afternoon a similar meeting will be held to which the general public is cordially invited to motor right down Adams street and up the hill over the new paving. To make things interesting the Haddock-Nibley company are offering free balloons to all children accompanied by adults.

Mr. Haddock has been acclaimed by local audiences as a most inspiring speaker and hundreds undoubtedly will want to hear him at 2:30 both tomorrow and Sunday afternoon.

Births

Mrs. E. Waite of 1270 South Mariposa street is the mother of a son born yesterday, Thursday, October 5, 1922, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Thomas of Austin, 2625 Yukon avenue, with the birth of a daughter, this morning, Friday, October 6, 1922, at the Glendale Research hospital. Mrs. Thomas was formerly Miss Doris Ingledue, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue.

An interesting fact about the birth of the new baby is that she was born on her mother's birthday and has been named Doris Jean for her mother.

THEATRES

The T. D. & L.

The animated screen today presents a no more romantic player than Rodolpho Valentino, who is seen in support of Mae Murray in "The Delicious Little Devil," which is playing at the T. D. & L. theatre today.

Valentino is an Italian by birth but America has adopted him as one of its foremost film heroes. Valentino was born in Taranto, Italy, where his family maintained a palatial estate for generations.

He was educated at the Perugia Military academy and later appointed to the Naval Academy at Venice. Because of a slight optical trouble he was refused a commission and came to America to pursue a dramatic career. He has appeared in vaudeville and his screen career has presented him with Griffith, Ince, Clara Kimball Young, Vitagraph and Universal.

The Glendale

The girl of the popular song sensation, "Second Hand Rose," was an Irish waif brought up by a Jewish family in a pawnshop, so it seems from Gladys Walton's Universal picturization of the melody story now being shown at the Glendale theatre.

"Second Hand Rose" found everything in life second hand, from shoes to combs. She was second hand herself, but when she decided to get married she thought at last she'd have something that wasn't second hand, but the man turned out to be a second hand husband, the bridal gown was his first wife's and the wedding ring came out of a hock shop!

It is Miss Walton's first definite departure from the flapper role, for the figure in no way resembles the typical flapper.

'Bad Lad' Steals Ma's False Teeth

LONDON—If Andy Jackson lived in New York he would be rated as one tough guy. In England he is just a "bad lad."

Andy was in court recently and the police constable who was making charges against him told the judge that he was such a "bad lad" that he had stolen his mother's false teeth and sold them.

He's a bad lad is Andy, and the judge gave him several months to think his sins over in a nice little cell.

L. A. Carter, the Times representative, The Eagle Rock Daily News, The Raycraft Shop, White's Cafe, Sol Gans, Sam Seelig Market, Frank Miller, Mr. Rathburn of Hayward & McCartney, G. W. Macomber, jeweler, Manserg Hardware Co., W. R. Johnston Realty company, Sunnyland Cafe, Central Garage, Hancock Music Co., Shield's Candy Kitchen, K. W. Hunt and L. B. Wilson.

WOMEN STUDENTS HOLD FESTIVAL ON CAMPUS

Parade In Costume to Home of President Bird of Occidental College

The Associated Women Students of Occidental College held a lantern festival Thursday evening on the college campus. The affair was in honor of the new women students.

A parade was formed at the Occidental cafeteria and progressed across the campus to the home of President Bird. All the paraders were in costume. The new girls led the procession and carried lanterns.

A novel program was given after the parade. Representatives from each of the women's organizations explained the purpose of these organizations to the newcomers, and several societies entertained the assembly with college skits.

At the conclusion of the program the new students were presented to President Bird.

Chinese 'Put One Over' on Japanese

PEKING—China turned the tables on Japan when she exacted tribute for the depredations of Japanese bandits in the territory of Shantung, still controlled by Japan. A Chinese citizen had been boldly kidnaped while walking in the streets of Tsingtao and held for ransom. The case was particularly embarrassing to Japan, as she had only recently presented a brief concerning the abuses of Chinese bandits in the rest of the province as indicative of the impracticability of returning the entire territory. She had also lodged numerous protests and demands for indemnity, while her representatives at her Shantung conference extolled her ability to maintain law and order.

The bandits meanwhile continue operations. In their methods they have been compared to the Paris "apaches" and are described as small, determined men, with an excellent knowledge of both firearms and jiu-jitsu and not averse to using either.

Show Superiority

They are also reported to have shown marked superiority to their Chinese contemporaries and make the city their headquarters, disdaining the usual mountain fastness.

The kidnaping case created a sensation, particularly as the victim was the managing director of the Tsian Electric Light works, a company of some importance. The Chinese in Tsingtao united in their protests to the Japanese authorities while the Chinese chamber of commerce added its voice and threatened that, unless its countryman was released at once it would close all the Chinese business houses in Tsingtao and withdraw completely.

The Peking government protested through the Shantung commissioner, Dr. C. T. Wang, and the case was further presented to the Japanese government through the foreign office at Peking. Eventually the efforts of the Japanese police became so determined that the kidnapers released their victim without ransom, and he returned to Tsinan none the worse for four weeks' captivity.

The Cape Peninsular road encircles the whole peninsula of South Africa, skirting the entire rock-bound coast for 125 miles. It is believed to be the finest marine drive in the world, even surpassing the famous Corniche road in Southern France.

China plans to adopt a constitution similar to that of the United States. Each province is to maintain its own assembly which will comply with the demands of the southern provinces for provincial autonomy.

Opening, Widening Broadway

This being the time set for hearing protests against opening and widening Broadway at Central, clerk reported protest received showing 62 per cent protesting. On motion of Councilman Stephenson the following resolution was adopted;

Resolved, that the council finds that the protests now presented against the opening and laying out of Broadway under Ordinance No. 648, passed by the council August 31, 1922, are signed by the owners of more than a majority of the frontage of property fronting on streets or parts of streets in the assessment district for said improvement but are not in legal form to prevent this council from proceeding with said improvement, but this council deems it advisable to sustain the same, and said protests are hereby sustained and proceedings for said improvement are hereby abandoned.
